

OTHER DISCLOSURES

INFORMATION ABOUT ATHLETICS

Colleges with any athletic programs must report on athletic program participation rates, financial support, completion/graduation rates for student athletes. Midstate College does not offer athletic programs and, therefore, does not have procedures for these requirements.

TEXTBOOK INFORMATION

The College posts textbook pricing information for both required and recommended materials for all classes (i.e., not just the school's online classes) on the quarterly schedule and is located at: <http://midstate.edu/academics/directory/schedule.php>.

The pricing information includes the International Standard Book Number (ISBN), retail price, publisher, copyright date, title, and author for all required and recommended textbooks and supplemental materials for each course listed in the institution's course schedule.

Used textbooks can be purchased at the College's Bookstore when they are available. Book Buy Back dates are posted in the College calendar, online event calendar, and on the bulletin boards. Book Buy Back starts on Monday of week 11 and ends on Friday of week 1. In order to return books:

- ❖ The books must be in VERY GOOD CONDITION AND COMPLETE so that other students may use them. Any CD's that may accompany the book must be included, and no pages may be torn out.
- ❖ Book buyback purchases will be applied to your student account. If you have a zero balance on your account, a check will be released the following Monday provided the book buyback was completed by noon on Thursday.

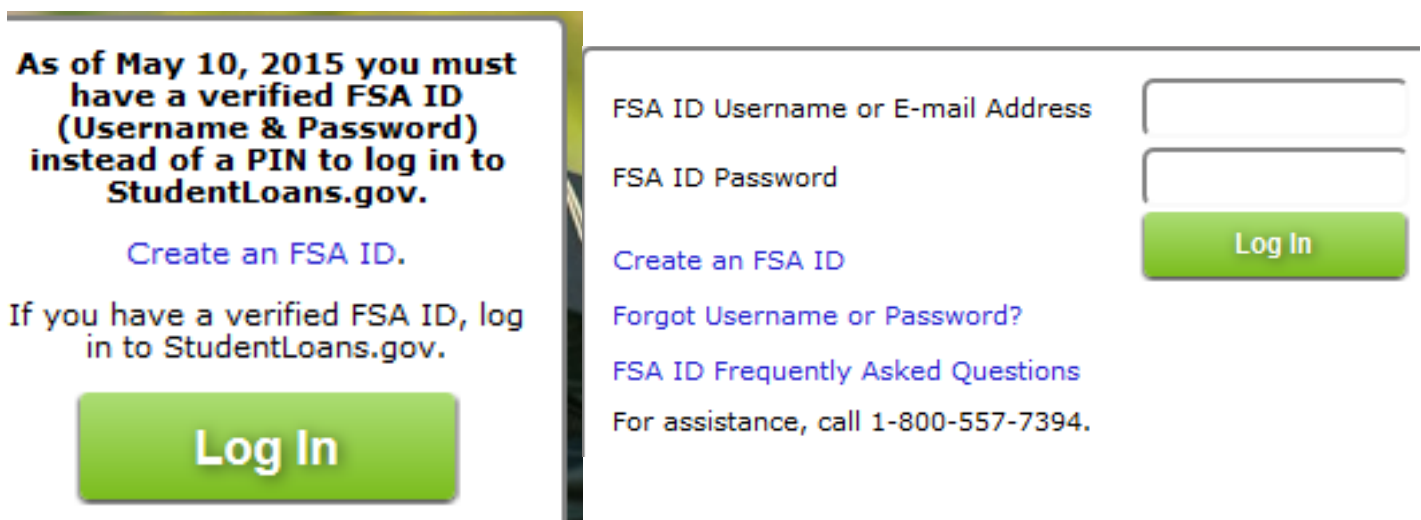

LOAN COUNSELING

Entrance Counseling and Methods

During the admissions process a financial assistance appointment is scheduled with the Financial Assistance Office for all students that need financial aid. Provisions are made by mail and email for those students that live at a distance and cannot attend the appointment in-person. During the financial assistance appointment, the student will receive a tuition estimate (based on the completed FASFA form); a temporary award letter; entrance counseling information (provided through the Department of Education website), including the promissory note, and an informational brochure on the responsibilities of borrowing. The official award letter is mailed to the student, and all documents are maintained in the students financial aid files.
